She comes with fairy footsteps; Softly their echoes fall, And her shadow plays like a summer shade Across the garden wall. The golden light is dancing bright, 'Mid the mazes of her hair,

And her fair young locks are waving free

Like a sportful fawn she boundeth So gleefully along, As a wild bird she caroleth The burden of a song. The summer flowers are clustering thick Around her dancing feet, And on her cheek the summer breeze

Above that boly head, And the wild flowers at her coming Their richest fragrance shed. And oh! how lovely light and fragrance Mingle in the light within!

Is breathing soft and sweet.

Oh! how fondly do they nestle

She comes, the spirit of our childhood-A thing of mortal birth, Yet bearing still the breath of heaven, To redeem her from the earth. She comes in bright-robed innocence, Unsoiled by spot or blight, And passeth by our wayward path,

'Round the soul that knows no sin!

A gleam of angel light. Oh! blessed things are children! The gifts of heavenly love; They stand betwixt our world-heart And better things above, They link us with the spirit-world
